ARE YOU CALLED TO A CAREER IN HEALTHCARE MISSIONS?

MedSend can help.
The call to healthcare missions comes many ways.

Sometimes it comes in childhood.

“When I was 10, I committed to go or do whatever it was God would ask of me for my life. Two years later, He seemed to indicate that that was overseas medical missions…”

Amanda Martin, RN, serving in Gabon
Often the call comes on a mission trip.

“At the break of dawn, hundreds of people were already lined up waiting to be seen. One elderly gentleman rolled up his sleeve and as he flexed his arm, he clearly had a non-union fracture as one part of his humerus would go one direction, and the other part would go the other direction. He told me it happened about two years prior... I determined that I would work somewhere that people like this could come and receive medical care on a regular basis.”

John Washburn, MD, serving in Peru
The call to career healthcare missions requires years of intensive education that is also expensive education. So most healthcare professionals today finance their training with educational loans.

The problem is that healthcare missionaries cannot go to the field carrying educational debt.

That's where MedSend comes in.
MedSend makes your educational loan payments while you serve.

Since 1992, MedSend has helped more than 500 healthcare professionals - doctors, nurses, dentists, veterinarians, and others - answer God's call to serve in more than 75 nations.

"MedSend makes it possible for us to fulfill our ministry calling to full-time, long-term medical missions!"

Daniel Galat, MD, Director, Department of Orthopedic Surgery, Tenwek Hospital, Kenya
“It was a huge blessing for our family not to have to worry about paying off our student loans before we left for the mission field.”

- Kyle Jones, DO, Kenya
After 12 years of serving this community, my student loans were finally paid off by MedSend. Instead of worrying about my debt, I have been able to focus on serving the people of Honduras.

- Valerie Colby, OD, Honduras
"MedSend was a central partner in the work God has allowed me to serve in. When I received this grant, it relieved a huge financial burden that made possible my commitment to a long-term effort."

- Allison Brown, APRN,BC, co-founder of Mission Lazarus, a multifaceted ministry that includes medical clinics, children's homes and nutrition programs in Honduras and Haiti

“We moved to Africa, after handing over medical school debt to you. God used MedSend in a significant role in our lives, making it possible for us to follow His lead and serve the Malawian people.”

- Perry Jansen, MD, (far right) founder of Partners in Hope, an HIV/AIDS ministry in Malawi that serves 3000 people per month.
Is healthcare missions in YOUR future?

Don't let educational debt stand in your way. Click HERE to find out how MedSend can help.